Second Petition To Make Rounds On New City Hall

Another petition calling for voters to have a say in whether they want a $1.2 million city hall complex built will be circulated if city commissioners do not issue before Friday a call for an election on the issue.

Mrs. Mary Parker, spokesman for petitioners, said the group will write up a new petition for circulation and will attempt to turn the petitions in before April 15.

"The city commission has until the end of the week to call an election or we'll have another petition," she said.

A petition given city commissioners by the group recently was rejected and not considered valid Monday night by the city. Commissioners rejected the petition on the advice of City Attorney Elton Cox who said the petition did not meet legal requirements.

Mrs. Parker said she has received several telephone calls from local residents interested in aiding in the petition effort.

She attacked the commission action Monday and charged that she had been misled by city officials in the petition effort.

She also implied that petitioners are eyeing other means of achieving a vote on the complex and indicated they are investigating court action on the issue.

"It boils down to whether we have the right to vote or not," she said.

Mrs. Parker said while the petition considered by commissioners Monday night may not have been in legal form "the intentions were there to give the people the opportunity to vote."

Cox based his advice for rejection to commissioners on the fact that the petition itself was not legal and that the affidavit submitted with the petition was not legal either.

Mrs. Parker contends that the petition was legal and that the affidavit submitted was one drawn up by city officials themselves.

She said six electors approached City Clerk Bob Moore for signing of the affidavit following the filing of the petitions in his office. She said Moore vowed to obtain an affidavit which they could sign. Later, he brought a handwritten affidavit to Mrs. Parker and asked that she retype it and have it signed by five electors, she said.

"That is the affidavit Mr. Cox used as an excuse to recommend to the city (See PETITION, page 7)

A large crowd gathered Saturday afternoon to honor Dr. James P. and Mrs. Cornette on the dedication of the Cornette Library on the West Texas State University campus. State Sen. Max Sherman was guest speaker for the ceremonies.

City Turns Down Petition Says Document Not Legal

City commissioners refused Monday night to consider a petition calling for an election on whether to build a $1.2 million city hall complex.

On a motion from Commissioner Willis Harrison, the commissioners rejected the petition after hearing City Attorney Elton Cox declare the petition illegal.

Commissioners told petitioners who attended the Monday session they are not far enough along in their planning for construction of the complex to be able to call a vote on a specific issue. They indicated they may call a town hall type meeting either later this month or next month to explain all details of the complex financing.

Petitioner Mary Parker told them she did not oppose construction of the complex per se, but wanted the electorate of Canyon to have a chance to vote on the issue.

Cox presented a lengthy legal opinion on the petition which was submitted two weeks ago to the commission.

He said the petition failed to comply with portions of the city charter dealing with the citizens' right to initiative.

"It was not accompanied by proposed legislation or measure in the form of a resolution or ordinance," he said.

Cox said other legal questions he had concerning the petition had been answered by petitioners but noted that an affidavit which accompanied the petitions was not a legal document and was also therefore not due consideration.

"Such instrument appears to be only a request to the commission to refrain from building a city complex without prior approval of the electors, and to give primary consideration to a larger water fund," Cox said. "Since it is a request for administrative action, rather than a proposed legislation in the form of a resolution or ordinance, it is not a proper matter to be submitted to the electors for adoption or rejection through the initiatory process."

Cox suggested that the commission is only in preliminary detail planning of the complex and such an issue cannot be given the voters for approval.

He recommended the commission reject the petition.

Several members of the audience Monday night supported construction of the city hall complex including Eddie Knowles, former president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and Bill Davis, a former school board member.

Commissioner Jim Christopher told petitioners that the city does not now know "within thousands of dollars" how much the new complex will cost to construct.

Canyon Joins Amarillo, Hereford In Boosting Interstate U.S. 60

Strong support from the three major cities on U.S. 60 was voiced Tuesday night in a hearing at Hereford on possible upgrading of the highway to interstate standards.

Several representatives of business and industry in Amarillo, Canyon and Hereford strongly supported upgrading of the current highway to interstate standards, a move they said would increase tourism and alleviate traffic problems.

Amarillo officials presented several reports citing statistics on traffic generated by new Amarillo industry and by the area agricultural industry.

Canyon officials voiced support from the Chamber of Commerce, West Texas State University and the City of Canyon.

Hereford, while citing no specifics, also voiced strong approval.

The Tuesday meeting was called by the Texas Highway Department, which is working under the 1973 Federal Aid To Highways Act in determining the feasibility and need for upgrading U.S. 60 from Amarillo to Las Cruces, N.M.

Several New Mexico officials were also present Tuesday night but did not speak formally.

David West, vice president of Canyon First National Bank, presented a paper prepared by Chamber President John Childs indicating Canyon support of the upgrading. City Manager George Louder presented a resolution passed by city commissioners supporting the upgrading.

West said an interstate highway would impact favorably in three areas in Canyon — tourism, education and agriculture.

More than $6 million is spent annually in the Canyon area by tourists, West said, citing figures to indicate the number of vehicles which travel through the area in tourist season.

"Tourism will undoubtedly increase in the next decade and Canyon has a geographical position and the attractions to take substantial advantage of this expansion in tourist activity," he said. "The designation of an interstate along the present Highway 60-87 route would be an important factor in assisting us to increase our tourist trade and its concomitant impact on Canyon's economy."

West cited WTSU as Canyon's major industry and noted the number of students who commute from Amarillo and Hereford for classes.

Noting that vehicles are a major part of the vast agricultural industry which centers in Randall County, West said transportation requirements for the feedlot industry and related businesses demand that an interstate be constructed.

In other presentations, officials from Amarillo and Hereford said that a southern route from Amarillo to the West Coast would be 140 miles shorter than the northern route along I-40. This would impact both on tourism and on the energy shortage, they noted.

Construction To Begin On Buffalo Lake Dike

Construction is to begin later this week on a dike across Buffalo Lake to become the first improvement in the dry lake bed to aid the lake's recovery.

Construction will begin if the lake bed is dry enough to support the weight of the earth movers, front-end loaders and other vehicles which will be used by refuge personnel to build the dike.

Paul Ferguson, refuge manager, said plans for the future of the lake have not been formalized by district federal authorities but lake personnel will begin dike construction anyway to try to beat spring rains.

Construction of the dike will be a prelude to other efforts planned by lake officials to get more water into the lake and to improve the quality of the lake bed itself.

Ferguson said no additional funds have been made available for construction of the dike and lake personnel will accomplish the project.

He hopes the dike will be completed by late April.

The dike is the first step in a plan which Ferguson and district officials have been working on for several months to revamp the lake and return it to use for wildlife and recreational activities.

Ferguson said the dike will be constructed from Catfish Point across the lake to virtually halve the lake bed. The dike will be three to four feet in height and will be 1750 feet in length.

The refuge manager said the dike could hold back about 200 acre feet of water at a fairly shallow level.

The water will be collected at the south end of the lake behind the dike and personnel will also construct a water way to route water from behind the dike around the northern section of the lake and into the lower end of the Tierra Blanca Creek, he said.

This will allow officials to plant a crop in the north end of the lakebed to try to remove nutrients from the soil, nutrients which have made the lake virtually uninhabitable for fish.

Concentration of water at the south end of the lake will again attract wild ducks and geese which for years have wintered over at Buffalo Lake.

Ferguson said plans for other improvements at the lake have been turned over to the district office in Albuquerque for final go-ahead.

Federal officials have expressed interest in maintaining the lake both as a wildlife refuge and as a haven for area fishermen.

Eventually, officials hope the entire lake will again be filled with water.

Buffalo Lake was allowed to dry up last fall after a massive summer fish kill due to lack of oxygen in the shallow water.

Fed Decision Due Shortly On Discrimination Charge

The federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has reached a decision on the complaint filed by a City of Canyon employee who has charged that the city's retirement system discriminates on the basis of sex.

A federal commission official told The News Monday the legal staff of the commission is currently writing the decision.

She did not reveal the substance of the decision.

The formal decision is to be sent in letter form to Mrs. Marguerite Strain, city bookkeeper, and to City Manager George Louder.

The federal spokesman said the decision will be sent "in the near future."

Mrs. Strain filed charges against the City of Canyon and the Texas Municipal Retirement System more than a year ago alleging the TMRS discriminates against women in its retirement payment plan.

For more than a year, Mrs. Strain, who will be 65 next October and who will complete 29 years of service to the city in May, has tried to receive an answer to the charges from federal officials.

The commission spokesman contacted in Washington Monday said the commission's legal staff had already written one opinion but that consideration of the commission's jurisdiction concerning the TMRS caused a rewrite of the decision.

Manager Louder had also requested a legal decision in the case.

The federal spokesman said the decision will be sent Mrs. Strain and Louder "long before October."

Mrs. Strain had charged more than a year and a half ago that the TMRS policy which sets retirement payment rates provides for more substan-

Budget Hearing Set Mon. Nite

City residents will have the opportunity to peruse the city's 1974-75 $900,000 budget which includes an 8.8 per cent wage increase for city employees during a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday at the community center.

City commissioners indicated tentative approval of the budget for next year during regular session Monday night and scheduled the public hearing for the coming Monday.

The new budget calls for operating revenues to total $938,000 and expenditures to total $920,000, leaving an unencumbered balance of $17,000.

City Manager George Louder in a memo to commissioners said the budget reflects their long-standing policy of a "pay-as-you-go" financial operation.

It also reflects no demand on existing reserve funds. The budget does not include the federal revenue sharing money received by the city.

During Monday night's work session, Louder recommended and commissioners informally approved an 8.8 per cent wage increase for city employees.

Louder noted that a salary and wage study was to be performed later this year and further salary adjustments will be recommended at that time.

Citing national and area statistics, Louder noted that Canyon employees have not received accurate cost-of-living wage hikes in at least three years.

The budget presented by Louder and considered by commissioners foresees revenue totalling $302,000 from ad valorem taxes.

A total of $96,000 is anticipated as revenue from city sales tax returns from the state. Franchise taxes are expected to total $43,000.

Another large chunk of revenue is expected through the city's water department, which is anticipated to take in $255,000. A total of $80,000 is expected through sewer fees.

The total expenditures of just over $900,000 are expected to include expenditures for a new fire truck, and other minor capital expense items.

General fund expenditures, which include expenditures for the major city departments, total $590,000. Water fund expenditures total $305,000 and a contingency fund will also be allocated.

In discussing the proposed budgetary items, commissioners also cited the need for more expenditure for park items and possibly for tennis courts for the city.

City Attorney Elton Cox complained that neither the school district nor the city has constructed tennis courts for use by citizens. He noted that West Texas State University's courts are primarily reserved for students and for that school's tennis team.

He said the CHS tennis team

Dr. Ples Harper gets a big hug of appreciation from Mrs. Lloyd Watkins during ceremonies Sunday afternoon dedicating a tree to Dr. Harper, who retires this year after more than 50 years involvement with West Texas State University. The tree was planted on the campus and the ceremony honored Dr. Harper for his service to WTSU. Harper said a highlight of the day was meeting again with three former students, students he'd taught in a country school 50 years ago in Hall County.

The president should resign only if he is actually guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors. If he resigns I will construe it to be a plea of guilty as charged. If he is innocent he should wait for impeachment and subsequent trial by the Senate.

I disagree with Senator Buckley's assertion that Nixon should resign at this point. If he resigns at this juncture the executive branch will never have the strength to lead again in this century.

I do not think he should be dogged from office by either the press, the opposition party or members of his own party who consider him a liability.

I am not at all happy with Nixon. There is too much smoke and it certainly looks like there may be some fire. He surrounded himself with people who were less than he should have been but Truman had his Pendergast, Eisenhower his Sherman Adams and Lyndon Johnson his Bobby Baker with Billie Sol Estes and several others thrown in for good measure.

If Nixon is guilty, the truth will out. Proceed with impeachment if that is what it takes. If he is indeed guilty as charged, let him confess and resign. Otherwise let him be tried in the Senate, not on front pages and video tubes.

Don Hatcher is an excellent teacher and may have missed his calling when he went into the Highway Patrol.

I never dreamed that someone could talk about defensive driving and keep my attention for four hours. I'm taking the defensive driving course being offered by the Department of Public Safety at the Community Center.

Every driver in Texas should have this eight hour course every two years or relinquish his driver's license. I don't say I'll never get another ticket for traffic violation but I will say that my driving will be better in the future.

We were in class an hour and then saw a film demonstrating what we had just studied. This went on from 6 to 10 p.m. Tuesday. Don kept the attention of some 30 youngsters and a few oldsters throughout the evening.

He pointed out that driving experience is not enough to make a good driver. Indeed it may make a bad driver worse if he practices bad driving habits over a period of years.

We are seeing just about every hazard we could encounter on the streets and highways. Some of them are sobering indeed.

We learned that 1800 people a year in Texas lose their lives because of drunken drivers. Don said it is conceivable that private automobiles may be banned in years to come if the death rate continues climbing.

He sent cold chills up our spines when he noted that two cars in the same lane 300 feet apart (the length of a football field) and closing at 60 miles an hour each (a total closing speed of 120) cannot avoid collision.

One Canyon High School youngster argued for a minute and was convinced. "That just about scares me to death," he commented turning to fellow students.

I had rather dreaded the opening class. Now I'm looking forward to the next session. Another course will be given in June and motorists get 10 per cent credit on some parts of their insurance for taking the course.

I commend the Chamber of Commerce for its efforts to attract people to Canyon to live.

I hope the Chamber will now follow through by helping merchants find ways to get people living here to trade in Canyon. This is the only way the community as a whole will benefit from our growth.

News Brief

The Canyon Dames will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Episcopal Center. Guest speaker for the meeting will be West Texas State University professor Dr. Thomas Cannon, Jr.

Members of the South Randall County Hospital Board considered routine business during regular session Monday night. Administrator Ray Grimes said the board considered financial statements and paid routine bills.

Hermas Miller, assistant director of the Legislative Budget Board in Austin, is new financial vice president at West Texas State University. Miller has been with the LBB since 1961 and has specialized in the field of higher education. He is a graduate of the University of Texas. Miller was responsible for the design and implementation of the zero-based budgeting system for Texas government. He will assume duties on June 1.

History Students Surveyed

By ANN MELIN

In response to a letter from a woman student at the University of North Carolina, a West Texas State University graduate assistant is trying to channel information about the status of women history students at WTSU into a national communications network.

Michelle Moylan, WTSU graduate assistant in the history department, distributed questionnaires among women enrolled in advanced history courses at WTSU in an attempt "to gather information regarding the major problems and special needs of women students."

The findings of the survey, she says, will go to the American Historical Association Committee on Women Historians, an organization that is currently attempting to establish a nationwide network of communications among women graduate students in history.

The effort to sound out the feelings of women history students at WTSU arose when Ms. Moylan received a letter from a graduate student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, she says.

The letter from UNC history graduate student D'Ann Mae Campbell told of "a pathbreaking meeting" at Chapel Hill at which women students discussed the high attrition rate of women students in graduate school.

"We were very concerned that more and more women were entering our graduate program each year but only one out of every four or five of us ever received a Ph.D.," the letter read.

The letter went on to say that UNC women students were asking themselves whether "special problems" existed for women graduate students, and whether these difficulties could be "minimized in any way."

Ms. Campbell, who is a coordinator of the southern region of the Caucus of Women Historians, is now charged with the task of gathering information about women history graduate students throughout Southern United States.

In response to Ms. Campbell's letter, Ms. Moylan has completed a survey on WT's women students enrolled in advanced and graduate level history courses.

Of the 70 students polled, Ms. Moylan said she was surprised to see that 60 per cent of the undergraduate women students indicated they planned to enter graduate school after receiving the bachelor's degree.

In response to a question asking whether the woman student had "ever experienced any overt or subtle discrimination in the history department at WTSU," only five of the 70 students answered in the affirmative, she said. Elaborating on the "discrimination," one student said a professor had told her that women "should not have political opinions, should listen to men and should stay home and take care of babies."

Another woman student stated that "some professors tend to disregard the possibility of women being capable of 1) independent thinking 2) creative endeavor and 3) critical analysis."

Despite isolated cases of alleged discrimination, Ms. Moylan said the dearth of critical comment on treatment of women in the WTSU history department seems to indicate that the department's attitude toward female students is on the whole, "commendable."

Asked what they considered "the most pressing needs of women students at WTSU," the students polled indicated that day care and health services could provide "vital aid" to the women student.

Health services that the students felt should be offered through the University's contractual arrangement with Neblett Clinic included pap smears, pregnancy-testing, prenatal care and birth control services, Ms. Moylan said.

Ms. Moylan said that the health service fee that each student is required to pay at the

Canyon Schools Commended

Commendations on everything from the Canyon Public School's physical plant to the "genuineness, friendliness and openness" of its teachers and student body were among the "impressions" of a group of visiting educators, six of whom appeared before the Canyon School Board Tuesday night.

The 52-member visiting team spent two days last week attending classes, talking with teachers, students and personnel, and gathering various other data for an evaluation of the Canyon school system which is expected to be available in published form in May.

Their "objective evaluation" of the Canyon Public Schools will complement a self-evaluation study recently completed by faculty and school personnel working through major and minor committees. The evaluation is undertaken every ten years in order to meet accreditation standards set by the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges.

Dr. Kenneth Laycock of West Texas State University, who has served as one of the consultants on the evaluation study, told board members that the role of the visiting team of educators was to "validate what has already been done by the self-evaluation committees."

Dr. Karl Ashbaugh of the University of Texas told school board members that the "very positive" attitude of the student body in Canyon's school impressed the visiting educators.

Ashbaugh, who has been working closely with teachers at Canyon Junior High School, said members of the team assigned to the facilities of that school.

He commended the Canyon Public Schools for its philosophy, as expressed in its self-evaluation study, of striving for "personalized instruction geared to the individual student" and urged school board members to continue to pursue that goal.

Ashbaugh also told board members of his plans to bring a 25-member team of UT graduate students to Canyon next summer to undertake a "school-community survey." Key questions regarding the community's attitude toward the schools are to be posed by the school board, along with school faculty and personnel. The UT team will then render the questions into "technically acceptable" form and canvass the city in an attempt to gather a statistical survey. The UT team will then render the questions into "technically acceptable" form and canvass the city in an attempt to gather a statistical

Three Canyon High School tennis players ended up in the finals last weekend in the Perryton Tournament and the Canyon team came in second in the overall standings.

David Fite won three matches in getting into the finals in A division-singles and teammates Roy Bechtel and Dennis Collier won in the A division doubles matches.

The team's girls doubles duet, Patty Lovelady and Debbie McBroom lost to Perryton in the semifinals.

sampling of public opinion. Ashbaugh told the school board that the team findings could prove highly useful in providing "direction" for future planning.

Jack Edmondston of WTSU, also a member of the visiting committee, commended the school board for its "commitment to improvement" and said that the findings of the visiting educators would include many commendations, and some "recommendations."

"Your system is not perfect, or we wouldn't be doing all this in the first place," he said.

In other business, the school board voted to authorize superintendent Jerry Jacobs to advertise for bids of sale on Umbarger residence acquired by the Canyon Schools when it merged with Umbarger system several years ago. The residence, formerly the old Umbarger schoolhouse, sits on a 12-acre site and includes about 1800 square feet of space.

The board voted to reappoint 1973 school tax equalization board members Fred Begert, Larry Hooper and Earl Marrs to the 1974 equalization board.

The board also decided to make a study of the property values in the residential areas that have sprung up in the Canyon School district "almost overnight" a prime topic of consideration of an April 2 meeting.

In other business, the board voted:

- To approve financial statements and accounts payable.
- To approve the 1973-74 Textbook Committee's recommendation for adoption of textbooks.
- To approve a new school calendar, which received similar approval from the school faculty. The new calendar will be very similar to the one adopted for the 1973-74 academic year, which was the first in school history to be divided into three 10-week quarters.

WT Netters To New Mexico For Tourney

Fresh from a big tournament win last weekend, West Texas State University's tennis team travels to Las Cruces, N.M., to play host to New Mexico State and the rugged University of New Mexico squad in the three-day New Mexico State Indoor Invitational.

All of the matches Thursday and Saturday will be inside the Pan American Center on the NMSU campus. Friday's matches will be outdoors as a show is booked into the Pan American Center that night.

The tournament will actually consist of a dual match between West Texas and both New Mexico and New Mexico State and another dual between NMSU and New Mexico.

The schedule of matches, however, will last for the full three days with no match being completed either of the first two days.

West Texas State opens by playing New Mexico State in number two doubles and number three doubles at 3 p.m. Thursday. At the same time, the Buffaloes' number six singles man will play New Mexico State.

The tourney opens at 1 p.m. Thursday with all of New Mexico's doubles teams playing all of the doubles teams from New Mexico State, numbers one through three.

In Thursday evening matches, New Mexico and New Mexico State will play in number one singles at 7 p.m. and the Buffaloes' number one doubles team will play New Mexico State at 8:30 p.m.

West Texas State's three doubles teams will meet the doubles unit from the University of New Mexico at 8 a.m. Friday. The Buffaloes' other matches Friday (numbers one, two and three singles) will be at 12:30 p.m.

LaCasa Residents Enjoy OEA Cookies

February 21st was an especially good day for eating cookies at the LaCasa Convalescent Home. Although it is Girl Scout Cookie time, the residents of LaCasa weren't enjoying Scout-Texas and Savannahs but rather, they had their choice of about 22 kinds of homemade cookies. This large variety was supplied by the Canyon High School Chapter of OEA. Each member made a dozen cookies and several of the members took them to the home in time for their lunch. However, not all residents waited until after lunch for their special treat.

Another community project which OEA members have been working on is the Canyon Independent School District Self-Evaluation Study. Members have been assembling and binding the books. One of the OEA members helped type this study and duplicated the copies necessary.

Presently members are preparing for the contest which will be held March 22-23 in Amarillo. It was originally planned to be in Odessa but because of the energy crisis, it has been divided into districts. Jim Walker is helping the parliamentary procedure team and everyone is preparing for their individual entries.

West Texas State is involved in all three matches Saturday. The Buffs' number four, five and six singles play New Mexico at 8 a.m. The number five, three and two men for West Texas will play New Mexico State at 9:30 a.m. and the number one singles men of West Texas and New Mexico play at 11:00 a.m.

Bill Marsh, the Buffs' number one singles man, has a 6-4 season record. Number two man Dale Corbin has an 8-2 standard. Number three player John Phillips and Steve Johnson, the number four man, have 6-4 records. Freshman Brett Hall is 5-0 in the fifth position and Jay Goss is 6-3 as the number six man.

In doubles Marsh and Johnson have a 6-2 record as the number one squad. Corbin and Phillips have a 7-2 mark, while Hall and Goss stand 5-2.

For the season, West Texas is 8-2. The Buffaloes defeated Wichita State, 9-0; Central Texas Junior College, 5-4; and Oklahoma State, 8-1, to win the West Texas State Invitational here last weekend.

Playing number one for New Mexico will be Dallas freshman Brad Coleman, who has led the Lobos to a 4-1 record. New Mexico has beaten Texas Tech, New Mexico State, Baylor and hold a victory over strong Pan American, 6-3. The lone loss was to Rice.

New Mexico State has a 7-8 record, including a 5-1 loss to West Texas two weeks ago in Lubbock. Armando Rivera plays number one for the Aggies and has a 9-6 season record.

Community Education Courses At Gene Howe

By TROYCE MULHERIN GARDEN - TIME GREETINGS:

IT'S COMING! IT'S coming! The first in a series of community education courses is coming to Gene Howe. During a recent survey, (the paper the youngsters brought home, remember?) it was ascertained that a large number of Gene Howe patrons have a desire to learn oil painting. This is going to be our first class, and will be taught by Charlotte Brantley, an art teacher at Canyon High! The first class will start April 18, which is the first Thursday after Easter Holidays are over. The classes will run eight weeks, all to be held on Thursdays, from seven o'clock to ten o'clock. In the evenings, of course. The cost, per person, is a lowly twelve dollars for all eight sessions. A very small fee indeed, considering the creative fun we are going to have.

SO, DRAG OUT the old smock, or one of hubby's shirts, or something you don't mind getting paint on, and come on over to Gene Howe on the 18th. Some easels will be furnished. And, more information concerning supplies, etc., will soon be forthcoming. Oh, yes — these classes will have open enrollment. That is, adults and/or youths at least sixteen years of age. Enrollment is not confined to Gene Howe patrons either. Anyone, sixteen or over, (that age group covers a lot of us, doesn't it?) is welcome to attend.

TWO WEEKS AFTER the oil painting course starts, a class in interior design will start, that's May 2. Mrs. Palmer of Canyon will teach this class in which a lot of people expressed an interest. It will run four weeks, two hours a night, at a cost of four dollars for the entire course.

ON THE TWELFTH of this month, Mrs. Margie Phillips, music director at Gene Howe, accompanied her second grade students to the Community Center in Canyon, where the group performed for the Rotary Club. The first several numbers were demonstration numbers in which the youngsters demonstrated just what it is they learn in music. The bells, the rounds, that sort of thing. Spring fever hit with regards to the rest of the numbers, with songs like "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "Fly a Kite," and "It's a Lazy Day." The verve and enthusiasm with which these youngsters performed gave no indication that they were "Taking it Easy," though. Precious youngsters. Excellent performance.

JUST CALL 'EM champs. Who, you ask? The members of the sixth grade basketball team coached by Euris Phipps and Bob Paris, of course. These young men finished a great season with a tournament championship. Following the championship game, the players presented each of their coaches with a trophy in appreciation of their coaching prowess. And, the coaches presented each youngster with a trophy bearing the inscription, "1974 Champs."

TEAM MEMBERS ARE Bret Bostick, Johnny Boyce, Doug Clark, Bill Gruhlkey, Monte Johnson, Mike Martindale, Kyle Paris, Jim Phipps, Mark Stewart and Todd Williams. The coaches, faced with the prospect of their championship team going to junior high next year, wished them good luck and a successful year playing for Canyon. Congratulations to all these men on their fine work and sportsmanship-like playing!

TROOP 130 OF the Boy Scouts observed its Court of Honor recently at Johnson's Rock. (This is the name of Carl and Willetta's home located in Sunday Canyon. When you see it you'll know why they call it by that particular name.) The troop color guard presented the opening; C. O. Hillman, former scout master, gave the invocation; and, Carl Johnson, scout master, presented the welcome.

MR. HILLMAN INTRODUCED Bob Bentley, who presented the Eagle Award to David Johnson and to Kurt Johnson! Congratulations to these young men — that Eagle Scout Award is highly cherished and rightly so!

CARL JOHNSON PRESENTED the Tenderfoot awards to Joe Brandon and Allen Tomes. Ricky Berry is also eligible to receive this award but was unable to attend the Court of Honor. Skill awards were presented by Pete Solbrig. Pete and Carl presented merit badges to Kurt Johnson, David Johnson, Bart Solbrig, Joe Brandon and Allen Tomes. Ricky Berry is also due this recognition. Bart Solbrig also received his First Class

Award. THE "BEST DRESSED Scout" award went to Kurt Johnson, who received $25 toward a scholarship, and to Bart Solbrig, who received $15 for second place in this category. "Best Dressed" in the scouting world means best dressed at each weekly meeting as well as any and all other scouting functions.

FROM FIFTY TO seventy-five people attended the court of Honor, including two former members of the troop, namely Greg Dodson and Mike Lovelady. Other guests from the Gene Howe area included the Don Palmers, the Roy Cates, and the Bill Sells. Everybody's younguns came, too, and enjoyed the refreshments.

TWO LARGE CAKES, one chocolate and one white, decorated with the symbol of the Eagle Award, were consumed even though they were "Too pretty," as were the cookies, punch and coffee. The evening was closed with the showing of films taken during various scouting activities. A fine evening's memories stored away for a lot of deserving young men.

WANT TO SAY congratulations, again, to David Johnson. This young man was recently voted "Freshman Favorite" at Canyon Junior High and was also named "Football King!"

WANT TO LET everyone who reads this know that Raydell Palmer has aged a year just like the rest of us. Serious now — happens to you Raydell. Happen to know that one of Raydell's favorite verses is, "The key to happiness in living is not in getting but in giving. For only what we give away enriches us from day to day." She actually borrowed this from Helen Steiner Rice, but it certainly does apply to Raydell's lifestyle.

HAPPY TO ROY Cates, who birthday today, and to David Bromley, who ages on the 23rd, that's Saturday. On Sunday, the 24th, wish Ricky Berry a happy, 'cause that's his day.

IF YOU, OR a friend, or a neighbor, or a soon-to-be neighbor, have a son or daughter who will be either five or six years old by next Sept. 1, be sure and let the office at Gene Howe know this information. Important. Important. Important. It's time for the annual bush-beating, also known as locating next year's kindergarten students. The school administration needs the information regarding incoming students as soon as possible, so plans can be made to accommodate them next school year.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall and for the calls.

Xylophone Featured

In Fine Arts Program

At their last meeting Monday, members of the Canyon Fine Arts Club heard a sampling of the music that will be performed on a large bass xylophone the organization recently donated to the music department at Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Conducting their regular monthly session in the annex music room at Rex Reeves, the club was treated to a lecture-demonstration of the innovative Orff-Kodaly method of teaching elementary music.

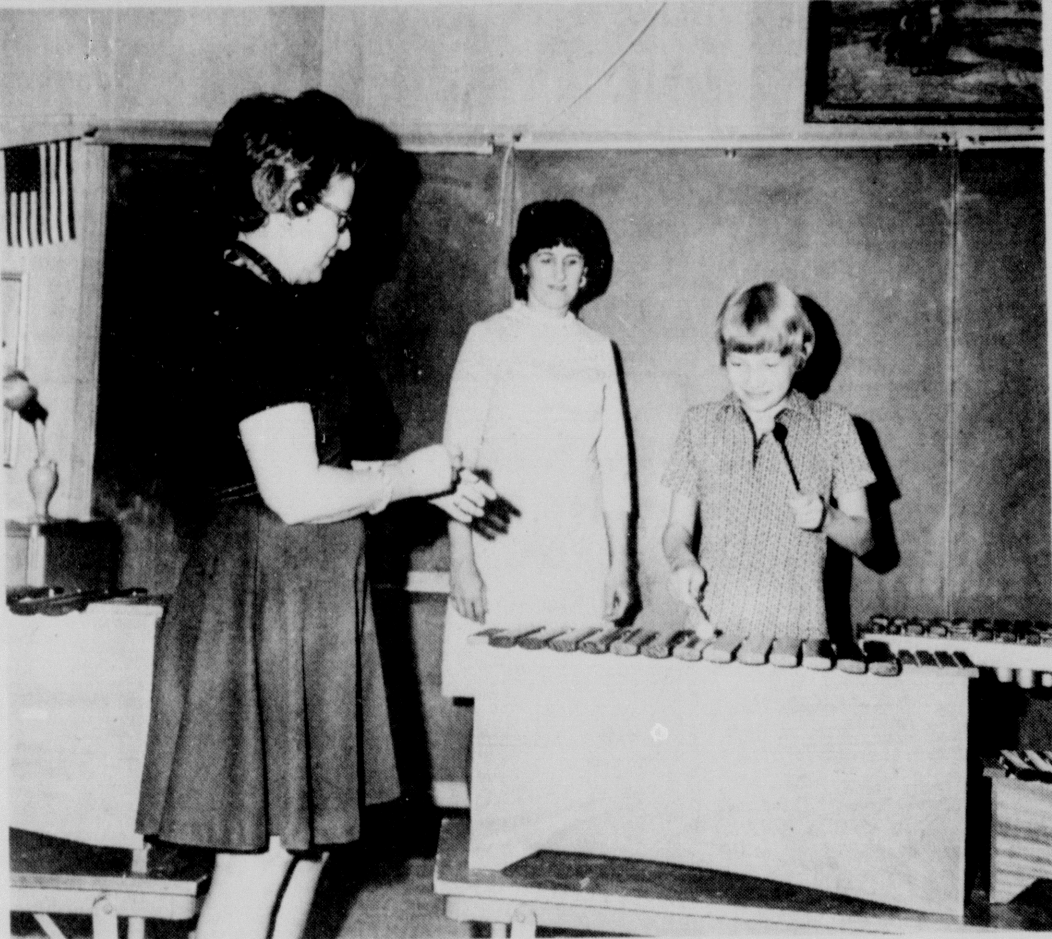

Mrs. George Umberson introduced the program, which was presented by a fourth grade Rex Reeves music class under the direction of Donna Wilson.

The program included the use of a bass xylophone which was presented to Rex Reeves by the Fine Arts Club as its annual community project.

Mrs. Wilson has attended several elementary music workshops where the Orff-Kodaly principles have been explored. The most recent of such sessions was a five-day workshop held last August by the music department at Stephen F. Austin University at Nacogdoches. She also spent a day last November visiting with a teacher in Arlington who was utilizing the system in her classes.

Teachers using the Orff-Kodaly method, Mrs. Wilson told the club members, have seen children's coordination increase and their listening and reading skills improve.

A short business meeting conducted by Mary Haraden, club president, followed the program.

Mrs. Donna Wilson, music instructor at Rex Reeves Elementary, directs Nolan Dees, fourth grade music student, in a performance on the school's new bass xylophone. Looking on is Mrs. George Umberson, program chairman of the Canyon Fine Arts Club, the organization that donated the xylophone to Rex Reeves as its community project for the year.

Banquet Set For Buffalo Cager Club

The first annual West Texas State University Cager Club Awards Banquet is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 2, at the Amarillo Quality Inn Motel in the Sunburst Room.

The banquet is to honor West Texas State's basketball team for a successful season.

The Buffaloes of coach Ron Ekker were picked last in the Missouri Valley Conference prior to the season, but they finished sixth with a 5-8 conference mark.

The banquet will honor the entire West Texas State basketball team, including both the varsity and junior varsity squads. The varsity completed its first season under Ekker with an 11-15 season record. The junior varsity team compiled a 14-6 mark for the year.

Seating for the banquet is limited to 300 and Cager Club members are being given first chance at purchasing the $7.50 tickets to the affair.

A limited number of tickets will be sold to other fans and they may contact banquet ticket chairman Bryce Cockerham at the Amarillo Globe-News.

Altar Society, Mothers Elect Officers

By REBA RAEF

AT THE MARCH meeting of St. Mary's Altar Society and Christian Mothers, new officers were elected to serve the group for the coming year. The new president is Mrs. Carl B. Mrs. Leonard Batenhorst is the new treasurer and Mrs. John Wieck is the new historian. The reporter and parliamentarian will be appointed

Equestrian Team

Formed At WTSU

A West Texas State University Equestrian Team has now been formed, said Marjul Wright, West Texas State University riding instructor. The team will represent West Texas in intercollegiate competition this spring, and assist with various 4-H projects.

"Our first objective is the show at Texas A&M next month," said Miss Wright, a slender Kentucky-trained horsewoman. "The students will be competing in both Western and English classes, so they should do well."

The founding members of the team are: Allison Piburn of Dallas, Terri Stinnett of Ingleside, Kim Bowers of Amarillo, Kim Finch of Amarillo and Rebecca Askanase of Amarillo.

by the president. IN THE BUSINESS session, the Altar Society voted to prepare and serve the banquet for the Canyon High School Band, to be held the latter part of May.

THE NEW OFFICERS will be installed at the April meeting.

THE ST. PATRICK'S charity dance, held in St. Mary's parish hall last Saturday, March 16, was pretty successful. The annual affair is sponsored by several Knights of Columbus Councils and the proceeds from the dance go to the Bishops Relief Fund. Chairmen for this year's dance were Albert Hartman from Nazareth and Sigfried Bolte from Umbarger.

AT THE EVENING dinner which preceded the dance, we saw several of Umbarger's own young married couples, who are now living in area towns. Among them were the Jim Wiecks, the Melvin Przilas, the Oscar Przilas, and the Greg Storks. We enjoyed visiting with Mrs. Otto Przilas, who was here also. We had not seen her since she moved to San Angelo some years ago.

WE WOULD LIKE to say a belated "Happy Birthday" to Patricia Batenhorst, whose birthday was March 17.

ANOTHER BELATED "Happy Birthday" to our little granddaughter, Shanna Lyn Raef, who lives in Amarillo. She was four on March 20. We had birthday supper with her that evening.

ALSO "HAPPY BIRTHDAY" to our grandson, Danny Hicks, who will celebrate his sixth birthday on March 24.

UMBARGER COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION'S meeting has been postponed. It was scheduled for this evening. Another date for the meeting will be announced.

MY COLUMN IS short this week. At this writing, I am visiting with Margaret and Mike, helping grandson Joe to get acquainted to this wide and wonderful world. He is doing fine, just needs to get his nights and days straightened out.

Student Believes In 'Magic'

A Canyon magician who performed for troops in Vietnam and appeared on national television says there is a resurgence in interest in magic and wants area amateur or professional magicians to form an organization to perfect their art.

Jerry Winn, a West Texas State University graduate student in psychology, issued a call this week to other magicians to contact him to form an organization "to provide the quality of magic presented to the public in the Panhandle area."

Winn, a native of Phillips, says he also wants to increase public awareness of magic as an entertainment idea.

Winn sees the recent resurgence in interest in magic on television not necessarily as a revival of interest in the occult.

His own interest in magic is as a hobby, one he's been developing since he was a student in elementary school.

When he was 9, Winn was spectator at a magic show at his grade school and his interest in the art has never waned since.

Learning the secrets of magic is difficult for the beginner, Winn says. But, by corresponding and meeting with known magicians throughout the area and state, he developed a show while in high school.

When he joined the military, Winn found that his show could be put to good use.

In Vietnam, he performed throughout South Vietnam.

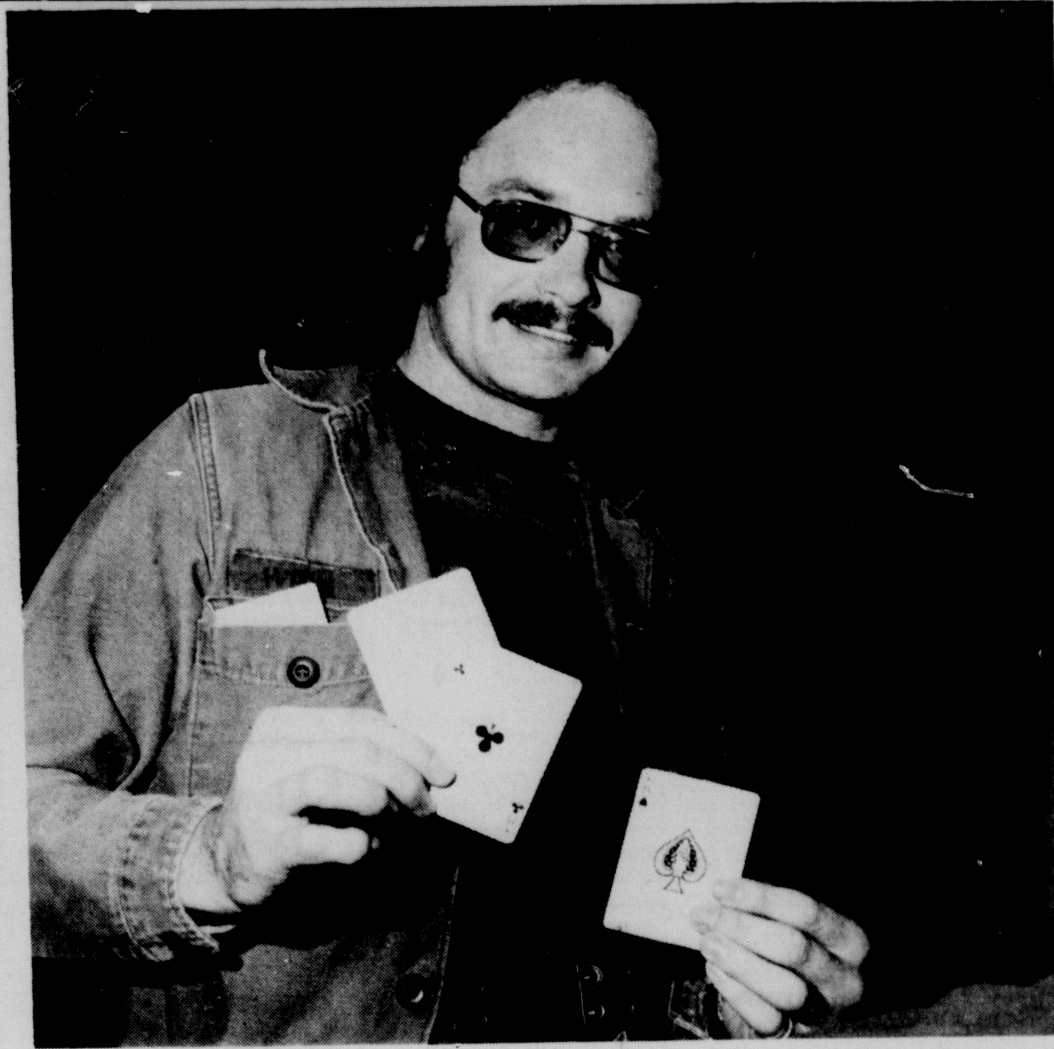

He also participated in a Ted Mack Amateur Hour after auditioning in Amarillo and Dallas.

While Winn is currently seeking a masters degree at WTSU, he says he hopes to enter a career of professional show business upon graduation.

Persons interested in magic should contact Winn at 655-2410 or at 104 28th Street #16 about joining his organization of magicians.

City Boxers Win Medals

Two Canyon boxers brought home gold medals for first place wins in last weekend's Golden Gloves Junior Olympic Tournament in Amarillo.

Joe Doss and Ted Clement won first in the tourney and fellow Canyon boxer Tod Nix won a third place.

Doss won a close decision over Wendall Holland of Borger for his gold medal in the 70-pound junior class.

Clement won a decision over David Gee of Olton in the 60-pound midget class. Nix won a bronze medal after he was defeated by Jim Allison of Guyton, Okla. in the 105-pound intermediate class.

Canyon Lawyers Association sponsored the Canyon Boxing Club this year and Elmer Clement served as coach for the three tournament entrants.

Improvements Planned For Buffs As Mayfield Eyes Spring Drills

West Texas State University kicks off its football spring training Friday and head coach Gene Mayfield has plans for improvement on all fronts.

The Buffaloes are smarting from a disappointing 2-9 season record in 1973 and the head coach has some plans for changing that mark in 1974.

"When a team goes through the kind of season we had in 1973, there is never just one reason for the year," said Mayfield. "It is not just one phase or one position that needs correcting. The progress must be on a broad front."

The head West Texas State coach said, "We must have some success with our offense and when that comes, so comes confidence in our ability to keep the ball and move it down the field. We must do the basic things such as block better, run better and throw better."

"We must play a sounder and more aggressive defense and have the confidence to stop the opponents from moving the ball on us."

The Buffalo defense, which gave up 310 points last year, has been strengthened by five junior college transfers — safety Michael Kelson, linebacker John Dyslin, defensive ends Bob Hamilton and Bob Johnson and defensive tackle Floyd Jones.

Leon Fuller, former standout player at the University of Alabama, and coach at Alabama, Kentucky, Oklahoma State and New Mexico, is the new defensive coordinator.

Fuller will work with the team's linebackers, while head freshman coach Ronnie Mankin will handle the secondary players. Bobby Thompson was the defensive coordinator last fall and worked with the secondary. He is now head coach at Northwestern State College in Alva, Okla. Dean Rudd, who handled the linebackers for the past three years, resigned earlier this year to go to work for a construction company in Odessa, Tex.

Professional football star John LaGrone will work with the defense until the spring break April

6. LaGrone, who was an all-star for coach Mayfield at Borger, Tex., High School in 1962 and an All-American lineman at SMU, is an all-league player at Edmonton of the Canadian Football League.

LaGrone, who has been an all-league selection six of seven years in Canada, is now an attorney and lives in Waco during the off season.

West Texas has 36 calendar days to get in 20 workouts so the final spring game date has not been set for sure at this time. Among those 36 days will be a 10-day spring break by the school, which will cut down on the time to get in the 20 days of practice.

A trio of defensive players off last year's team have been moved to offense. Tibby Rogers of Pampa and Odessa junior Don Field, who played at defensive tackles last fall, will open spring training at offensive guard positions. Ted DiBiase, a sophomore squadman, is switching from defensive tackle to offensive tackle. Mickey Matthews, who lettered for two years as a halfback, will open spring practice as one of the quarterback candidates. Returning at the quarterback position are lettermen Mike Wartes, Don Nava and Bob Sweet. The 190-pound Sweet missed last fall with an injured shoulder, but lettered in 1972.

Juan Garza, who started last fall as a defensive end, is returning to the secondary and will play safety. He lettered at corner back two years ago during his sophomore season.

The Buffaloes used a five-man front wall on defense last fall, but will change to a four-man front this year.

"We will be in multiple offensive formations," said Mayfield. "We will have the Wishbone-T look, but will not use the basic Wishbone set of a full house backfield at all times. We will have a wingback at times and use other things to get more pass receivers out."

Try-outs Sun. For Babe Ruth

Tryouts for Babe Ruth League teams will be from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Babe Ruth diamond near Conner Park.

Boys ages 13 to 15 are eligible to play in the league.

Actual league play begins May 4.

A spokesman for the league said if enough 13-year-old boys sign up for the league two teams of 13 year olds will be fielded to play one game per week in addition to their regular schedule.

In connection with the sign-ups, a baseball clinic will be conducted on two days later this month.

Coach Bob Sloan of Canyon High School will lead the clinic for all participating boys, coaches and parents. One clinic session will be from 7 to 9 p.m. March 28 at the Canyon High gym. The other will be from 1 to 5 p.m. March 31 at the Canyon Junior High gym.

Covered in the clinic will be basic hitting, fielding techniques and baseball strategy.

Phil Langen is league president this year.

Cooperative Design For WT, Jr. College

Discussed During Visit

Four South Plains Junior College administrators and faculty visited West Texas State University recently to help cement a cooperative relationship between the two schools.

Topics discussed were ways to facilitate the transferring of credit hours, programs and academic innovations, and other mutual problems and solutions. Also included was a campus tour to familiarize the visitors with WT's plant capabilities, and to show off the Activities Center, Cornette Library and the new Science Building, all superior academic structures.

South Plains' Administrative Dean W. L. Walker, English Department Chairman Robert Slaughter, English Professor Lee Stevenson and Tex-Anns Drill Team director Mary Shea returned the visit that WT's president and administrators paid their campus earlier this year.

They also visited with West Texas State University's vice presidents, academic deans and top administrators during lunch Monday.

This was the first of three visits by area junior college administrators scheduled. WTSU administrators also greeted officials from Clarendon Junior College and Frank Phillips College of Borger.

Names Omitted From Honor List

Several names were omitted from Sunday's listing of students at Canyon Junior High School who made the A average honor roll.

Other A students include 8th grader Renee West and 7th graders Batina Anderson, Becky Boston, Janet Coffelt, Lisa Erwin, Mikel Grabber, John Guidry, Floyd Hartman, Laura Lindsey, Angela Morris, Cindy Todd, Bernie Wiebe, and Kathy Posey.

The students averaged A on their coursework for the fourth six weeks at the school.

"Why is the city commission and Mr. Cox reluctant to allow the electors to vote whether they wish to have $1.2 million of their money spent for a city complex or not? Are they afraid of an informed electorate?"

"If the election of a commission was meant for the electors to relinquish all responsibility of their community to a few people, then the city charter would not have granted the right of the initiative, petition, referendum, recall and amendment."

ties Center ballroom.

Breakfast Today For Chamber

Membership breakfast for the Canyon Chamber of Commerce begins at 6:30 a.m. today at the community center.

Sponsors of the breakfast are Eddie Knowles New and Used Cars, the Furniture Galleries and Hosea Foster Agency.

The Canyon High Girl Eagles and boy Eagles will be saluted during the breakfast.

Chamber directors will serve eggs, bacon, biscuits and the trimmings.

The session will end at 7:50 a.m.

This week was "Birthday Week" for Camp Fire Girls, the organization that's commemorating its 64th year of existence in the nation. In a kind of "turnabout" of usual birthday activities, members of the Gene Howe "Silly Sallies," a first grade Camp Fire troop, presented a cake to Canyon News publisher Troy Martin. Pictured above with Martin are group members Sherri Golden, Linda Stone, Leslie Childers, Jackie Whitten and Toni Jones. Also pictured is Shane Whitten, the group's unofficial male "mas-cot." The group also presented a "birthday cake" to the Physical Therapy unit at St. Anthony's Hospital.

Woman Of Year To Be Named At University

Seventeen West Texas State University women students are vying for the honor of being selected Association of Women Students Woman of the Year. Sororities, service organizations, and residence hall groups were asked to nominate the co-eds.

A committee composed of three faculty members and one student will make the final selection based on leadership, academic performance and citizenship. The selection will be announced at the AWS banquet tonight in the East Dining Hall on the Canyon campus.

The guest speaker for the 6th annual Woman of the Year banquet will be Mrs. Bobby Duncan, District 18 president of the Texas State Teachers Association. She has recently announced her candidacy for president of the state organization. Her speech topic will be "A Woman Can."

Amarillo are Susan Cox, Ethel Gooden and Virginia Rosas.

No More Mail Delivery Of License Tags

Tax Collector Audrey Bruse said this week that local residents who have not yet purchased license tags should not seek mail service on delivery of the tags.

Only two weeks remain for residents to purchase their 1974 plates.

"Our tax office can no longer accept mail orders and guarantee delivery of license plates by April 1," she said.

She asked residents to take their license renewal forms either to the Canyon courthouse office or the annex office in South Amarillo for plate purchase.

License plates for 1973 expire at midnight April 1.

Realtors Give WT Scholarships Earmarked For Business Students

The Texas Realtors Foundation presented $1,000 March 19 to the West Texas State University business school for real estate scholarships.

Franklin Jeffers of First Equity Realtors of Amarillo and the Texas Association of Realtors president made the presentation to WTSU President Lloyd I. Watkins and WT business administration head Zeke Marchant. This was the first contribution that the TAR division has made in the Panhandle area.

"It is the Texas Association of Realtors' goal to be very aggressive in the educational progress for realtors throughout the State of Texas," Jeffers said. "It is the realtors of Texas' aim to provide as many scholarships as possible to young people throughout the state that have an interest in the real estate industry."

Jeffers stated that all new sales personnel in real estate must have completed 30 hours of classroom work within the first year they are licensed or else the license will be revoked. Also, those who want to obtain a real estate brokers license must have completed at least 90 hours of classroom work.

Marchant noted that the money would probably provide four $250 scholarships for junior and senior real estate majors.

"The Texas Association of Realtors is very enthusiastic about the real estate program at WTSU, and their high interest in supporting the goals of the Association," Jeffers said.

HAPPY NEWS

Carburetor Could Double Gas Mileage

By MARY NEAL HENRY
"SAVES GAS AND Cuts Smog-but it's illegal." That is the name of an article reprinted from the Paso Robles Press and which I read in the ROPERS SPORTS NEWS. For $50 you could have a simple carburetor installed at a small machine shop in Torrance, Calif., which would cut smog and double your gas mileage, or maybe triple it.

THE STORY BEGAN when a University of California student at Davis entered an engineering contest. His ancient full size Mercury won the contest and emitted no smog — admitted by the nine laboratories in the nation which test for smog — and increased his mileage from twelve miles per gallon to thirty miles per gallon. The device is illegal because it does not have the smog devices that the law says you must have on your car.

THE KENDIG DEVICE is a simple one, made up of only 105 parts, while the carburetor on your vehicle has 318. Kendig's device delivers a precise amount of fuel to the engine, has automatic compensation for altitude and eliminates the need for a choke, accelerator pump, multiple circuits, needle valves, and jets, and never stalls, achieving constant acceleration from idle to full throttle.

THIS DEVICE COULD be installed on 1975 cars for only about $1.5 million to develop. But the big four car manufacturers have already sank $24 million into the new smog devices to go on those cars. And those devices do not work.

SAM HANKS, WINNER of the Indianapolis 500 back in 1957 commented that this was the greatest device for cars that he had ever seen. And it is illegal.

CONCLUSION: THAT IF a fuel shortage really existed, the United States would make use of such devices as the Kendig carburetor.

THE VOLUNTEER FIRE-MAN'S Volleyball Tournament is history. I heard one girl say, "I'm going to practice all year so that I will be good next year." We all chuckled. Remember when...

HAPPY ELEVATOR COMPANY won first in the Women's Division. It was a hard fought battle all the way and Hardaway Butane did not give up at all.

Jayne Weeks, Betty Tipps, Vivian Woods, Connie Johnson, Della Venhaus and Billie Pearson won the first place trophy for Happy Elevator Company. The second place trophy went to Louise White, Jill White, Kathy Holland, Mary Johnson, Alice Middleton, Jeanne Johnson, Pat Sims.

HAPPY WELDING WON the third place Women's trophy. This team was Traverne Vermeire, Nell Sims, Judy Thompson, Sharon McCarley, Janie Mann and Rita Tuck.

WAYSIDE GRAIN WON

fourth place trophy and SPORTSMANSHIP trophy. This bunch of gals were Betty Stockett, Skip Simons, Dottie Foster, Pat Anderson, Marilyn Barnett, Doretta Anderson, and Donna Bryan. They were especially pleased that they won the sportsmanship trophy. (Never underestimate the power of a woman).

HARMAN-TOLES WON that first place trophy in the Men's division. That was an even harder fought battle against Wayside Grain. Harman-Toles' team consisted of Jerral Mayes, Dick Railsback, Joe Bill Dempsey, George Tirey, J.C. Malone, and David Leavitt.

WAYSIDE GRAIN TEAM that won second place trophy was C.R. Wesley, Dick Foster, James Vick, James Stockett, Bob McDonald, Larry Simons, Tuffy Thompson, Teddy McCaslin and Wayne Pearson.

TEXAS TOPS WON third place. This was Dickie Clark, Weldon Tuck, Mike Uselding, Bobby Ellis, David Tuck, and Bill Whitlow.

ERVIN'S BARBER SHOP'S Ronnie Middleton, Coach Weeks, Terry Stevens, Billy Jackson, Charles McCaslin, and Ken Danner won fourth.

Tech Relays Next For Buffs

West Texas State University's Buffaloes, fresh from a strong showing last week in the University of Texas at Arlington Relays, compete Saturday in the Texas Tech Mini Relays.

The Buffaloes placed fifth in a strong field and defeated defending Missouri Valley Conference champion North Texas State, Texas Tech and the University of Texas at Arlington.

Oklahoma won the Arlington meet, edging Oklahoma State and Louisiana Tech. Northwest Louisiana placed fourth with 27 points and West Texas totaled 25 points.

The Buffaloes had three athletes set records for the school in the Arlington meet, but two of the athletes were in one event. Both Mike Walker and Tommy Humphries vaulted 15-6 for a new school mark. They finished third and fourth respectively, but the winning vault was also 15-6 as places were awarded on fewer misses.

Dennis Briggs hurled the javelin 198-1/4 to reset his own record of 198-0, set last spring in the Missouri Valley Conference meet.

The Saturday meet will feature four relay events. George Fuller, Wayne Cure, Rick McGuire and Alvis Wright will run the 440-yard relay. McGuire missed the Arlington meet with a leg injury.

Wright, Cure, McGuire and Larry Marlar will run the 880-yard relay for the Buffaloes. McGuire, Cure, Steve Nieman and Marlar will form the mile relay. In the distance medley relay event, Fuller will run the 440 leg, Dave Karila will run the 880, Jay Jones will run the 1,320 and Lindsey Snodgrass will run the mile.

Jay Benn, former Buffalo basketball player, will run the 3,000-meter steeplechase event. In other running events Wright will compete in the 100-yard dash and freshman Terry Penn will run both hurdle events.

Wright ran a 9.7 at Arlington for second place. Penn had a 14.8 clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles for second place. Briggs was second at Arlington in the discus with a 158.7.

Other teams entered in the university division at Lubbock Saturday are Texas Tech, Wayland Baptist College, Lubbock Christian, Abilene Christian, McMurry and UT-Arlington. Teams in the junior college division are New Mexico Junior College, South Plains College, Odessa College, Ranger Junior College and Cisco Junior College.

Black Recognition Week Begins Monday On Campus

"I AM SOMEBODY" is what the Black students of West Texas State University intend to evoke as they present their first "Black Recognition Week" on the WT campus next week.

Activities open with a Black Culture Seminar featuring the Rev. V. P. Perry of Amarillo on Monday at 8 p.m. in the AC Ballroom, according to Walter Hibbler, Lubbock senior and Afro-American Association president.

A pageant of "soulful fashions" exposing the Panhandle to the "Superfly-The Mac" look of the 1970's and a variety of other styles will be presented March 26 in the AC Ballroom at 8 p.m.

According to Rhonda Jackson, AAA secretary and Houston junior, March 27-28 has been reserved by AAA members for special sessions of Black cultural instruction on methods of cooking and hygienic procedures such as cornrow-Afro hair styling in the homes of various WT students.

A show of black talent on campus will be presented March 29 in the AC at 8 p.m. The talent variety will include singing, dancing, poetry readings and black experience-situation skits.

On the final day of the culture week, all possible WT student-recruits will be honored at the Black Recognition Banquet, 6:30 p.m. March 30 in the WT cafeteria. Roger Scott, WT's Upward Bound administrator, will be the guest speaker.

A dance will be held in the WT Student Union Building after the banquet. "We want to encourage all concerned persons to come and help us begin and conclude our week of black promotion at WT," Hibbler said.

Banquet tickets are $2 per person and may be purchased from any AAA member. Dance admission will be collected at the door.

"To save energy and money this summer . . . cool your home with Gas Central Air Conditioning.

You save with a gas system because it's a more efficient energy user than its electric counterpart. It's more efficient because gas, unlike electricity, is a direct source of energy. You don't have the energy loss that occurs in electrical generation and transmission.

We help you save in another way, too.

In addition to determining the exact cooling requirements of your home, our cooling specialists also check your attic insulation. If it's insufficient, insulation is added and included as part of the job. Proper insulation saves energy and money for both cooling and heating.
So, beat the summer rush.

Palisades Palaver

By MILDRED TURNER
DUMB ME! I forgot to wear green last Sunday and my little Sunday schoolers had to pinch me all over more than anywhere. I taped some of their little songs as they sang, also their individual memory verses. While doing their workbooks, I played their songs real softly and they were so thrilled to hear themselves sing and quote their memory verses. Aren't they precious?

I TAUGHT THE teenagers for fifteen years and had to resign after having so much illness in the family. They really do take more time, but I surely loved every minute (almost). Some of the most amusing questions (and I had many) were concerning the Children of Israel going through the wilderness when I mentioned their clothes did not wax old. "What about the babies in diapers? Would they not be around forty years old as they came out of the wilderness? Wouldn't a man or woman look strange in diapers?"

WE WANT TO welcome the Vaughns as new neighbors. Although they have been coming out weekends for a long time, they really moved out this last week. We love them.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO

Golf Team Out Of Play Until April

West Texas State University's golf team takes off until April 5-6 when it plays in the Oklahoma Baptist Invitational at Shawnee, Okla.

The Buffaloes placed eighth this past weekend in the New Mexico State University Invitational at Las Cruces, N.M.

West Texas, led by junior Max Tenorio, carded a 924 total, 64 strokes back of Arizona State. Tenorio, from Amarillo, fired a three-round 228 total.

Borger freshman Richard Wolf had 229, while Jerry Boeka shot 231, Junior Salinas 236, Randall Burton 239 and Andy Lawler 246.

Arizona State's Charley Gipson was medalist with a six under-par 210. Teammate Gary Jacobson was second at 213.

New Mexico State, the defending champion, was 14 strokes back of the winners in second place with an 874 score. Arizona's team total was four strokes under par.

Other team scores were Texas Tech 877, University of New Mexico 887, Colorado 917, Odessa College 920, Arkansas 921, New Mexico Junior College 925, Pan American 928, Western Texas College 931, Sul Ross State 968 and Yabapai College 989.

City Landfill Okayed By State

Canyon's sanitary landfill for refuse was certified by the Texas Department of Health this week after more than four years of operation.

City Manager George Loudder said the landfill operation for Canyon is probably the first landfill in the 25-county Texas Panhandle to be certified by the state department.

Certification, in essence, means the city has complied with a 40-page booklet of rules and regulations for operation of a landfill.

Loudder said the state health agency will continue to inspect the landfill probably on a quarterly basis.

Department of Health involvement in the landfill operation began about 5 years ago when the state said cities could no longer burn garbage at open pit dumpgrounds.

Loudder said certification efforts took more than a year, although the city met no real problems in meeting the state standards.

Drill Meet Is Saturday At University

The 8th annual Scabbard and Blade drill meet will be conducted this weekend at West Texas State University with teams from six schools in Texas and Oklahoma participating.

A rifle meet will also be held in conjunction with the drill competition, which is scheduled at the activities center.

The drill meet begins at 10 a.m. Saturday with awards to be presented at noon. Members of the Amarillo National Guard will serve as judges for the competition in fancy, inspection and regulation drill.

Teams participating will represent Amarillo High School, Tascosa High School, Caprock High School, Coronado High School, Eisenhower High School and Rider High School.

The 3rd annual rifle meet will begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and end around 2:30 p.m. at the WTSU rifle range. Teams from those schools other than Caprock competing in the drill meet will also compete in the rifle meet. In addition, Wichita Falls High will be represented.

Cathy Webb on the 27 of March. I MISSED THE Cannons, the Adams, the Atkersons and the Randy Hookers when I called. Would u call me?

THE PALISADES BOARD sure thanks the ladies for the lovely tree at the gate. We had a couple of calls asking where it was purchased. Out on Pullman Road at Frank Chambers Nursery. They also have some real reasonable Scotch Pines that must be put out right now if not sooner.

THE COUNTRY FAIR is coming along but need volunteers of all ages for the live entertainment. We have one adult clown, need teenagers, youngsters or adults who sing, play music or dance, some quartets, also need someone in charge of things for sale: white elephants, tools, furniture, arts and crafts, home baked and canned foods.

Several things have been offered including a record player. Let's all take part and remember the proceeds go into our gate, road, and bridge fund. It has been decided to have it in the park and Jack Inman is chairman of that project. Call him if you have an hour or two to clean up, paint or improve the park. Cathy Flemings has suggested this be the next project for the ladies and young people out here. So if the men will do the heavy work, we can add a finishing touch. O.K.?

FLASH! DANNA BAILEY has six teeth and is walking (wobbly).

WAS THAT PHIL Boothe I saw playing basketball with Susy and Shari Boothe?

ONCE UPON A time (recently) a young pianist and her husband went to a friend's church to practice for the friend's wedding. They kept waiting around for the wedding party. Finally a lady asked if she could help them. Several questions and minutes later they discovered they were in the wrong church! There seemed to be two wedding practice sessions; one in the Baptist and one in the Methodist churches, which were about a block apart. Every one had a good laugh including this couple. "To be continued."

LAST FRIDAY NIGHT Garland and I had a pleasant surprise when Ernest and Margie Carlile dropped in for a visit. As it was a little chilly we just sat by the fire and visited. Margie has had two rounds of the flu this year. (This should do her for a couple or three years). Ernest still has his adventurous walk nearly every morning. They are experts on gardening (I think). I have referred several, who have asked me questions on gardening, to the Carliles. Since we have known each other about twenty-five years, we always have a lot to talk about, and enjoy our visits.

GUESTS OF THE Carliles recently were his brother and wife Evel and Beatrice of Auburn, California. The four of them went up to Dumas and spent the night with Ernest's brother-in-law, Kermit Irvin. (His wife was killed in the tornado between Dumas and Amarillo last year). On Saturday the Carliles and their guests motored over to Portales to visit some cousins, Lela and Johnny Truelock. During the time they were not trapping around, they enjoyed games of Forty-two and Eighty-eight.

I HAVE BEEN potting geraniums, two kinds of ferns, planting hanging baskets, etc.

When doing this farming (in my pots) I always have quite a few plants to share. Beverly, Allan, and Amy Strecker were over last week. Beverly and I exchanged plants. She gave me a leaf of her Zebra plant. I enjoyed playing with little Amy Lynette. In about an hour Allan was back over with an old dead cottonwood leaf which he presented to me. He has given me several dried weed arrangements, which I always graciously accept. He is fourth. I know between him and the grandones I shall always have wild flowers. These little people are so cute.

BY THE WAY, I still have a few extra bird house seeds, and a lot of zinnia seeds if you want some on the back fence. My bougainvia (how do you spell that?) is in full bloom to the ceiling and the fern is all over again. The elephant ear has six large ears (leaves). The largest leaf measures 19 x 25 inches and the plant is much taller than I am.

HAVE ALL YOU young people far and wide heard about the Jesus Rally at the Civic Center on April 4 and 5? I know this will be great with singing, music and message geared for young people. I have not got a report on the number of churches sponsoring but do know the Baptist are. Mark this on your calendar. They might even let some old fogies in! "KEEP SMILING" EVERYONE will wonder what you are up to!
